

AFRICA BEYOND THE MAP

Kenya - Tanzania - Madagascar

A privately guided helicopter expedition linking three of Africa's most extraordinary conservation landscapes.

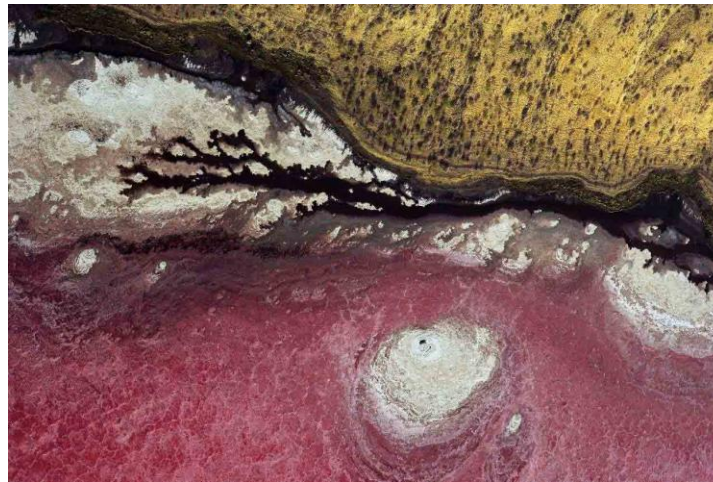

This expedition unfolds across three remarkable ecosystems, combining rare aerial access, exceptional wildlife encounters and meaningful encounters with the people working to protect these landscapes.

Kenya — Borana Conservancy

Explore one of Africa's leading rhino conservation landscapes from a private villa, with helicopter flights over Mount Kenya and the Matthews Range and secluded wilderness landings for bush breakfasts and sundowners.

Tanzania — Chem Chem

Discover one of East Africa's most inspiring conservation initiatives restoring wildlife corridors between Tarangire and Lake Manyara, with aerial exploration of the Ngorongoro Crater and the dramatic landscapes of Lake Natron.

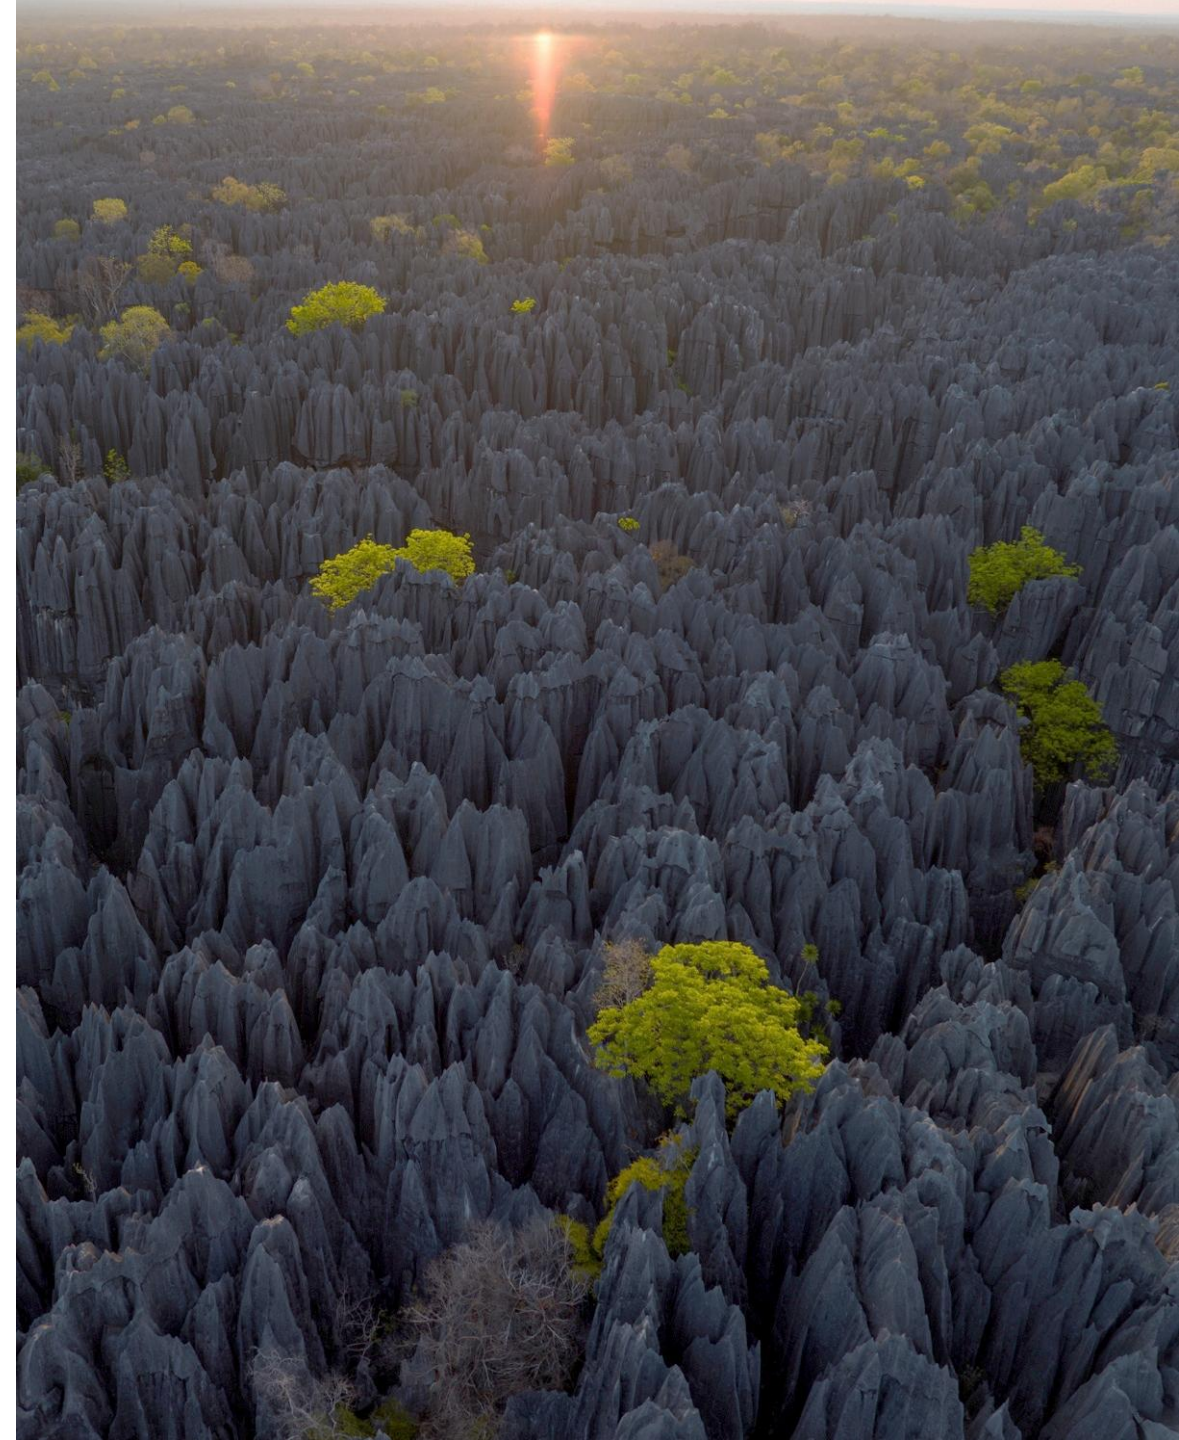

Madagascar — Miavana

Conclude on the extraordinary island reserve of Miavana, exploring one of the planet's most remarkable biodiversity hotspots, including aerial access to the spectacular Tsingy and encounters with some of the most endangered species anywhere on Earth.

Throughout the journey, guests spend time with conservation teams, field researchers and leading naturalists whose work is helping safeguard these ecosystems.

The result is a journey that reveals not only the beauty of these landscapes, but the people and ideas working to protect them.

The Inala Approach

Conservation at the Core

Every journey is built around meaningful engagement with the people and projects protecting Africa's wildlife and ecosystems.

Expert Access

Guests spend time with leading naturalists, conservationists and field researchers whose work is shaping the future of wildlife protection across Africa.

Rare Landscapes

From Madagascar's extraordinary endemic wildlife to remote African wilderness areas, these journeys explore ecosystems rarely experienced through conventional tourism.

Experiential Luxury

Each journey blends extraordinary wilderness access with some of Africa's most exceptional accommodation — from private villas and celebrated conservation lodges to remote island retreats recognized among the finest in the world.

Working With Private Clients & Advisors

Inala Expeditions creates both fully bespoke private journeys and a small number of expert-led expeditions each year.

Each itinerary is personally designed and overseen by founder Valerie Perrier, drawing on nearly two decades of experience across Africa's luxury safari and conservation travel world. Her career has spanned lodge development, safari operations and expedition design, shaped by years of living on the continent and academic studies focused on Africa's social and economic landscapes.

Inala regularly collaborates with trusted family offices, private PAs and luxury travel advisors, assisting clients seeking exceptional experiences in Africa.
